Some Changes to Sam

and some overdo thank yous

Dear Saranya,

Some exciting announcements about this production:
Dennis Washington, with his silky baritone, returns for this show.
Our newest sponsor Stevens Realty Group New Paltz NY, and our radio campaign on WDST, they both big supporters of local arts.

have a listen and share with your friends
OUR WDST RADIO AD

A moment to thank the people who help us to do what we do.

Our Sam Cooke play is 4 years old this year, we are planning to take it to NYC, once we can find a venue and the means, but it will happen, the work and cast is worthy of a broad audience. I just wanted to thank a few people that have made this journey possible and I believe have never been publicly applauded for their efforts.

First Abbey Lappen, who was our original choreographer and worked many hours with untrained and often resistant actors and created many memorable and lovely moments in movement, I wish we could give her what she deserves, like so many great artists I know Abbey is an artist who exceeds in commitment and generosity and without whom this show would never have been.

Terry and Pierre (Carl) Leroy for opening thier home to us, helping us with getting the word out and the personal support that has made difficult times so tolerable. So many others like Maralene Jones, Modele Clarke, Odel and Ann Frazier our early directors Gordon Brown and Esther Taylor Evans, our supporters at the Ulster Publishing, The Times Herald Record, and The Daily Freeman, we could not put a price on the value of your unwavering support and if this production is anything at all it is a testament to what can be accomplished with little resources, tons of creativity and a commitment to the power of art to change lives.
There is no Art without those that Love and Support It.

Michael Monasterial May 2014

Sincerely,

Passing the Torch Through the Arts
